

F.D.R. Hits 3 Phases of Economics

Wages, Salaries, Farm Prices Will Be Put Under Drastic Order, Officials Say

Is Called Radical

Forthcoming Action Is Called Revolutionary by Advisers

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—A drastic presidential order limiting all wages, salaries and farm prices was in store for the nation today in an unprecedented move, government officials revealed, to thwart a threatened runaway rise in the cost of living.

The responsible sources who can not be quoted by name, said the decree, as drafted by President Roosevelt for issuance on Labor Day, calls for creation of an economic administration to carry out these policies and others designed to halt rising wartime living costs. In effect, the presidential edict is scheduled to tighten the purse strings of every American to luxury or unnecessary spending but leave them wide to payments of debts and more taxes, and to greater war bond purchases.

Even Mr. Roosevelt's advisers who aided in preparing the message regarded it as almost revolutionary because an act of Congress virtually will be set aside by the executive order. The order, which affects a provision of the price control act specifically forbidding any price ceilings on farm products at less than 110 per cent of parity.

The President will say his wartime powers and duties are sufficient authority for the order. Already mentioned as possibilities for the post of economic administrator were Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York, Wendell Willkie and Bernard M. Baruch. General provisions of the decree as outlined by authoritative informants is expected to prohibit wage increases above the January 1, 1941, level by more than 15 per cent, the approximate rise in living costs since that date. Workers paid by the hour, however, will not be prevented from receiving more for extra hours employed, and it was indicated that those who had received more than a 15 per cent increase since January 1, 1941, will be permitted to continue on the basis of the increased pay.

Salaries Undecided

While wages will constitute the amount paid by an hourly rate or other compensation up to $75 weekly, salaries will include amounts ranging from that figure to $7,500 a year. It is still to be decided whether salaries will be frozen or permitted to be raised on the cost-of-living formula, but on salaries above $7,500 a year increases will be forbidden.

Farm prices will be frozen also although revision may be made later on the charges for some products with some of the revisions to be downward, it was said.

The government officials said income tax laws will be used particularly to enforce wage provisions of the order. Refusal to allow employers "business expense" deductions for unauthorized wage increases would bring increased taxes on employers. As a matter of normal economy, most employers were expected to abide voluntarily by the decree.

While the order is not expected to affect directly other cost-of-living angles, it is anticipated Mr. Roosevelt's message to Congress and his radio address to the public will stress necessity of more taxes, more war bond purchases, more rationing, prompt payments of debts, and avoidance of hoarding.

As for an executive dismissal of legislation bolstering farm prices, it was expected that Mr. Roosevelt would count on forestalling farm bloc protests by answering some of the objections in advance in a message to Congress preceding a radio address to the people. The President has said his message will not constitute a request for any legislation and consequently, it was expected he will explain his belief of necessity for freezing farm prices at present levels.

When the President advised Congress in 1940 of the trading of 50 destroyers to Great Britain in exchange for outlying air and naval bases, it was recalled that his announcement also was accompanied by an opinion of former Attorney General Jackson, now a Supreme Court justice, affirming his authority for the act. The message constituted a report and an explanation to the legislators. There was no request for congressional action.

In the preparation of his anti-inflation program the President was known to have conferred with Attorney General Biddle and other justice department officials.

Aguirre Sees End Of Franco's Regime

Santiago, Chile, Sept. 5 (AP)—Jose Antonio Aguirre, former president of the Basque republic, said in an interview today that the Spanish cabinet shake-up announced Thursday in Madrid was "the beginning of the end of a regime which has been unable to achieve any positive results."

Aguirre expressed the opinion, however, that despite the shakeup, the present leaders of Spain—especially the military men—were strongly pro-Axis. He said that according to information obtained from reliable sources, the ousted foreign minister, Ramon Sener, has been at odds with German leaders since his visit to Berlin last year.

Edelmuth Vetoes Lenihan and Park Concession Matters

'Moral Obligation' to Pay Salary Is Rejected; Ordinance on Leases Also Rejected

Two vetoes were filed with the city clerk on Friday by Mayor William F. Edelmuth; one of the resolutions recommending that the July salary of Alderman Martin F. Lenihan, now in the U. S. Army, be paid as "a moral obligation" and the other of an ordinance providing for the Common Council having control of the leasing of concessions in the city park instead of the Board of Public Works.

Mayor Edelmuth also filed with the vetoes a written memorandum of his reasons for "disapproving of both actions which had been adopted at the September meeting of the council.

The memorandum on the Lenihan resolution stated that this resolution refers to a moral obligation on the part of the city of Kingston, but nobody has as yet seen fit to explain what that moral obligation is or how it arises.

The mayor in the memorandum disapproving the ordinance writes that the ordinance is, in many respects similar to that passed by the council in August, and vetoed by him.

"It is my opinion," writes the mayor, "that an ordinance of this type is necessary, but it should be drawn up only after a great deal of study. The ordinance you now propose seemingly was drawn in haste, and there are several features I cannot approve of."

The mayor wrote he could not approve of the provision compelling the successful bidder to "pay a service charge of $5. This procedure acts as a penalty imposed on the person who offers the highest bid. I am told the

F. B. I. Lists Arrest of 142 Aliens in Raids Stretching From Kingston to New York

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced today the arrest of 142 enemy aliens in raids stretching from Kingston, N. Y., to New York city.

It was the second largest single haul of aliens for the New York area since Pearl Harbor. Those arrested were 116 Germans, including 22 women, 11 Italians and 15 Japanese.

P. E. Foxworth, assistant F. B. I. director, said 15 of the Germans were members of the German Singing Society with headquarters in the Yorkville section of Manhattan. All the Japanese had endeavored to have themselves repatriated, Foxworth said.

The arrests brought to 1,802 total of enemy aliens seized in the eastern and southern federal districts of New York since December 8.

Two Killed in New York Apartment Blast

Mrs. David Cameron Oswald, 41-year-old aviatrix, and Margaret Burke, a maid, were fatally injured when a blast apparently from gas wrecked this apartment in a midtown building. Police reported long strips of adhesive tape around the living room door of the Oswald apartment, leading officials to blame a suicide attempt.

Franco Has No Policy to Tell Nazis

Generalissimo Is Busy Consolidating His Government; Axis Is Reported Anxious

Picture Is Given

Eight Points Discussed as Having Bearing on Sener Ouster

Bern, Switzerland, Sept. 5 (AP)—Reliable private information from the Spanish border said today that Generalissimo Franco is consolidating his government after ousting Foreign Minister Ramon Sener under a program designed to keep Spain out of the war and is not hastening to please Germany by a clarifying declaration of policy.

Franco's declaration of policy may be delayed for perhaps three months, it was said.

German comment on the government shakeup, in which their staunchest friend was toppled from the place second only to that of Franco, still was practically nil. German press dispatches yesterday said Berlin was awaiting a Franco pronouncement, an apparent hint at a demand for an explanation.

Informants at the Spanish border, who cannot be quoted by name, said the new Franco regime was embarking on a cautious course that may involve the first concessions of consequence to republican elements in eclipse since the bloody civil war.

This highly reliable picture of the Spanish situation under which Spain appeared to be backing away from definitive Axis collaboration was given:

The Germans themselves want peace and quiet in Spain. The Axis is too involved on other fronts to start a new adventure with a country in impoverished economic and uncertain military conditions. But the Germans and Italians would like Franco to say something indicating he is going to remain a "new order man."

Franco would prefer to have the cabinet changes passed off as solely an internal alteration requiring no strong-sounding declarations.

Serrano Sener was pictured as personally unpopular with the people who refer to him as "Spain's Laval." Politically ambitious, he was said to have made recent overtures to Prince Juan, claimant to the Spanish throne, hoping to better his position should the monarchy be restored.

Serrano Sener's downfall marked a victory for Jose Luis Arrese, secretary of the Falange party, after a year of rivalry. Arrese favored avoiding too close ties

U-Boat Sinkings Mean Resources of Allies Have Value

Control of Seas Emphasizes Superiority of United Nations and What They Will Mean

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

What's going to beat Herr Hitler in the long run—and never doubt that this throw-back to barbarism is going to be smashed—will be the Allies' overwhelming resources of all sorts, coupled with their control of the seas over which those resources must be moved to the theatres of battle.

Therefore, the disclosure that the past two months have produced record-breaking destruction of U-boats, and a sensational drop in sinkings of merchant ships in the western Atlantic, is great news for the United Nations.

The importance of control of the seas has been cited in this column numerous times, but it's so vital that it is worth repeating. Without that domination we would lack adequate means of moving our resources, and our mountainous production would be love's labor lost. Machineguns piled on a dock at Hoboken aren't much use to hard-pressed Yankee soldiers in, say, the Middle East.

For anxious months we seemed to be losing the battle of the Atlantic. From January right through June of this year, the sinking of brave ships by Hitler's sea-monsters went up by leaps and bounds. An Associated Press tabulation of announced sinkings showed that some 381 were sent to the bottom in that time, and close to 3,000 seamen were lost.

The victims of submarines rose steadily from 21 in January to a terrible peak of 109 in June. The shipyards were outdistanced in their efforts to keep pace. Then came a drop to 45 sinkings for July, and a further slump to 23 for August.

Edge Is Obtained

A few days ago Rear Admiral Emory S. Land said American shipyard production was slowly but surely getting the edge on Axis submarine activity. And Captain Leland P. Lovette, navy public relations director, said that for the first time since January and February the nation's shipyards in July built more ships than were sunk.

Now along comes British First Lord of the Admiralty Alexander and adds an illuminating chapter to the above. He says July and August were record-breaking months for the destruction of Axis submarines.

Moreover, Britain's heavy warship losses—the admiralty already has announced the loss of 423, big and little—have virtually been made up by British shipyards. And that's an item of vast importance.

Chinese Gain Upper Hand In Fighting Outside Kihwa

Provisional Capital of Chekiang Is Scene of Onslaughts Against Japanese; U. S. Fliers' Work Is Praised

(By The Associated Press)

The Chinese high command said today that severe fighting continued in the outskirts of Kihwa and nearby Lanchi "with the Chinese steadily gaining the upper hand."

Kihwa, 85 miles southwest of Hangchow, is the provisional capital of Chekiang province. Lanchi, 10 miles to the north, was recaptured by the Japanese recently in the first Japanese success in weeks of retreat from Chakiang and Kiangsi provinces.

"Enemy troops in both cities were reinforced repeatedly but they failed to break the Chinese cordon and suffered heavy casualties," a communique said.

The high command indicated that Chinese troops driving north from southern Chekiang were attempting to cut off the Japanese. Other Chinese were striking from the northeast at Kihwa, site of an air base within easy bombing range of Japan.

The Chinese said they captured a point south of the railway town of Tunxang, 70 miles south of Hangchow and 30 miles northeast of Kihwa.

"Enemy troops fled leaving many killed and wounded," the communique said.

At an Allied base in Australia, high praise for the work of the United States Army air force in Australia was voiced today by an industrialist who helped build some of their equipment. Lieut. Col. Victor E. Bertrand said:

"It makes me happy that these boys are flying planes from American production lines and doing the kind of a job United States workmen hoped they would do," he said.

Dewey Is Greeted By Large Crowds During Area Visit

G.O.P. Candidate Makes Several Stops in County While on His Way to Cortland

Despite lack of fanfare and time for elaborate preparations Kingston and Ulster county effectively realized that Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for governor was here yesterday.

The news "Dewey was in town today," spread beyond the crowds who were able to get out to see him and those words opened many conversations at Highland, Port Ewen, Woodstock, Poughkeepsie and Pine Hill, where the G. O. P. candidate also made brief stops.

"I shook hands with Dewey," were other words which were making the rounds last evening and these were heard frequently in Kingston and the county villages he visited.

Local Republican leaders had little time for effective advance announcements of the candidate's visits in the county while en route to Cortland where he is to deliver a scheduled address this afternoon. Crowds at each place, however, were unexpectedly large.

The candidate drove from his home at Pawling and was met at the Poughkeepsie R. R. station by Ulster County Republican Leader Roscoe V. Elsworth, Senator Wicks, Assemblyman Wadlin and others, and an escort headed by Sheriff H. C. Anderson. At Poughkeepsie a party of newspapermen joined them.

There were stops at Highland and Port Ewen, where Mr. Dewey was kept busy shaking hands with admirers that had gathered to greet him.

At the Rondout Creek bridge a police escort met the party and took them to the court house where they arrived at 3:27 o'clock and where a crowd of several hundred persons gathered. For a quarter of an hour Mr. Dewey was kept busy shaking hands and

Rockland Part of Bridge Will Be Sold October 19

New York, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Rockland County Treasurer Gilbert H. Crawford announced yesterday that a tax sale of that part of Bear Mountain bridge located in Rockland county would be held October 19 at the county courthouse.

Crawford said the county authorized the sale to collect $17,898.96 in unpaid 1940 taxes.

The section of the bridge in Stony Point township of the county includes a tollhouse, the south anchorage and part of the north anchorage.

The bridge was purchased from the Bear Mountain-Hudson River Bridge Company, private operators, on September 26, 1940, by the New York State Bridge Authority.

A tax sale was scheduled by Rockland county last fall, but was deferred for a year at the request of state officials. County authorities contend taxes are due for the period in 1940 when the bridge was privately operated.

By WES GALLAGHER
London, Sept. 5 (Wide World)—Allied hopes of opening a second front and dealing Germany a knockout blow in this fourth year of war rest largely on the shoulders of a young and ever growing American army. That is the combined opinion of qualified military observers—and figures bear them out.

With a population half as large as Germany's, Britain has an air force that now stacks up as equal to or better than the Reich's, and Britain's navy is far superior to anything Hitler can offer. But it is physically impossible to put a British army in the field to match the German war machine.

Britain has drained her manpower and womanpower reserves in the last three years. Military experts usually estimate that a country can mobilize 10 per cent of its population for the fighting

Nazi Reports Declare City Is Well-Fortified and Mined; Siege Guns Are Used

Rommel Retreats

News From Egypt Says Axis Makes Third Straight Retreat

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's armies, rallying in the hour of deepest crisis, stopped the Germans on the bloody plains before Stalingrad today and even stormed into Nazi lines northwest of the Volga steely city to capture booty and prisoners.

A German broadcast, quoting Nazi military quarters, said the Russians were fighting bitterly to make Stalingrad a "Red Verdun" and declared the sprawling industrial center had been converted into a vast fortress which would be difficult to take.

"There are many tanks and so much artillery that German troops, even after they have entered the city's environs, must capture house after house," a Nazi military spokesman said.

Besides heavy reinforced concrete bunkers, Stalingrad's bristling defenses include "innumerable giant minefields, reaching right up to the suburbs where German forces are now fighting," the spokesman said.

"Sappers are fighting their way with hand grenades and bayonets from one center of resistance to another," he added.

German siege guns were reported pounding the city while hundreds of Nazi warplanes spread fires and destruction, but still the Red armies, bolstered by factory workers and civilians, fought to the death rather than surrender the "City of Steel."

Further news for the United Nations came from the Egyptian battlefield, where British G.H.Q. reported a new Axis retreat on the southern end of the 35-mile line and declared that British troops beat off three heavy counterattacks against newly-won positions on the center.

A communique said the Axis forces "again moved slightly westward"—the third straight retreat—in the El Himeimat sector on the rim of the great Qattara salt basin.

On the center, the British command said, tanked Axis infantry attempting to regain points captured by the British Thursday night ran into a withering barrage of artillery fire. British troops then charged the wavering Germans and Italians, the communique said, and drove them off.

Italian field headquarters gave a conflicting version of the battle, asserting that Axis armored forces had launched an attack on the southern sector and captured "several hundred prisoners, including the general of a New Zealand brigade."

The Fascist command also declared that Axis planes bombed concentrations of British armored vehicles "and set 40 on fire."

Cairo dispatches said the British, supported by U. S. tanks and planes, maintained "heavy pressure" on the enemy all day yesterday amid "considerable" fighting.

The German high command declared that several tank-supported British attacks on the southern sector "were frustrated."

While neither side claimed a decisive edge in the battle, dispatches indicated that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had failed at least in the initial phase of his new six-day offensive against the El Alamein front, 85 miles west of Alexandria.

"Rommel has lost the initiative and we seem to have seized it," a British military commentator said.

The British, however, avoided any suggestion of a full-scale counter offensive and Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's imperial headquarters likewise declared only that British forces "continued their pressure on the enemy's main concentration."

Dispatches indicated that the British were wary of a new trap set by Rommel and were guarding against a repetition of the disaster at Tobruk last June, when he sent a small force of tanks forward as bait and lured the British into a nest of hidden anti-tank guns.

Reports said Rommel again attempted the strategy in the present campaign, but this time the Allied tanks ignored the decoy, remaining in the rear while Allied artillery blasted the Nazi tanks.

Front-line advices said United States tank crews, riding "General Grants" into action in the first two days of the battle, showed they could both take it and hand it back. U. S. Army headquarters said a single American tank knocked out six Axis tanks and probably wrecked two others.

forces, a basis which figures 4,000,000 fighting men for Britain.

Prime Minister Churchill announced in his last speech in Common that at least 950,000 soldiers had been sent abroad, and at last accounts another million were in the R. A. F. No one except the admiralty knows how many are in the navy but there are certainly at least a half million and this does not include the many thousands in the merchant marine.

This leaves about 1,500,000 for the army in the European theatre, about half of whom would be needed in behind-the-lines supply services. Many thousands of home guards—over—and under-age men—could be mustered for defense against invasion but these would be of slight use in any offensive action.

The public has had an impression that colonial fliers, soldiers and sailors are doing most of the (Continued on Page 10)

Does Girl Have to Give Exact Age in Obtaining Marriage License?

A letter sent me this morning begins: "I don't expect you to tell me to tell a lie, but I do think you'll agree that there are times to think about 'white lies.' The letter then explains that the writer is going to marry a man who is six years younger than she is although by appearance she looks younger than he. She is small and slim with naturally curly blond hair, whereas he is a big man, getting bald and prematurely grey. He has never asked her age and she wishes it were possible not to make an issue of it now. Her question is: "Do I have to give my right age when getting a license? Will it make the marriage illegal if I don't? If I do have to give it, is it possible not to have it printed in the papers?"

In answer to this I can at least say that I wouldn't like to be made responsible for the accuracy of every woman's statement that has been entered on an official document. Whether you might say "I'm over 25" and add "I refuse to say how much over," depends upon the willingness of the clerk to cooperate and say over 25 or pin you down to fact.

Hosts Complain About Guest

Dear Mrs. Post: When my son was working near S-town, the family of my brother-in-law invited him to dinner often. My son says he always thanked his hosts when he left and on one or two occasions took candy the next time to the wife. I understand these people think that he should have written a thank-you note and that they also think that I have been lacking in not having sent some expression of appreciation. Please tell me if we both have been wrong.

Answer: Your son should have written a thank-you note after leaving town. But a mother is certainly not expected to write a deliberate thank-you letter for a grown son. By deliberate is meant a letter written to one to whom she would not otherwise write.

Of course, if you are in the habit of writing to these people occasionally, it would naturally be an occasion to say "John has written me how kind you have been to him, and how much he enjoyed seeing you."

Bridgroom Sends Own

Invitations
Dear Mrs. Post: Can you imagine any circumstance which would make it proper for a bridegroom to send out the invitations to the wedding, worded similarly to this: Mr. John Bridgroom requests the honor of your presence at his marriage. Miss Helen Blank, etc. I've heard of a man who sent such invitations and I was shocked. My daughter's attitude is: well why not?

Answer: I can't believe any one could think of doing such a thing. It would be completely improper. It is even improper excepting under extraordinary circumstances for the parents to send out the announcements. (The only answer to your daughter's "why not?" about this, is: why think about anything?)

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips in a variety of subjects to send to her readers. Today's slip is "The Origin of the Great American Rudeness." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of The Kingston Freeman, P.O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. Leaflets cannot be mailed unless self-addressed envelope bears correct amount of postage.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

It Walks

New York—Not to bring up old tunes, but did you ever see a fish walking? Well, Aquarium visitors did.

There it was, right at the preview of the 50th annual exhibition of the New York Aquarium Society—the rare Chinese walking fish.

It makes its way across mud banks by energetic flip-flops.

Impromptu Extravaganza

Portland, Ind.—Several farmers enjoyed a glorious but belated Fourth as a ton and a half of fireworks aboard a truck was ignited.

A short circuit in the truck precipitated the extravaganza. Driver Randle Decker of Bloomington, Ind., leaped from his "hot seat" without injury.

Unseafaring

Palestine, Tex.—Adrian (Slim) Herrin was thinking about joining the Navy—until he cranked his boat motor.

The cranking rope caught in the flywheel, its handle knocked him unconscious, and he decided to study the question of life at sea more fully, before enlisting.

Next day his draft board called him.

Preparedness

St. Joseph, Mo.—Firemen Mack Hart and William Denver Owens watched a negro approach, carrying a double-barreled shotgun.

"Where are you going with that?" Hart called.

"Gonna answer my draft board call," the man replied, without stopping.

But why a shotgun?

"Ain't no army man gonna give me a gun I can't shoot!"

Help Thy Neighbor

Seattle—Mrs. C. W. Felix didn't mind when a neighbor's four-year old son greeted her with a cheery "Mrs. Felix, I used your hose."

"Did you?" she smiled.

"Yes'm—to sprinkle the flowers on your rug."

The nozzle was thrust through a window. The rug floated by as she opened the bedroom door.

Recovery of copper from vine leaves sprayed with copper sulfate is being attempted in Italy, five pounds of copper per acre being recovered, it is reported.

Obituary

A dashing young fellow named Bill Drove recklessly down a steep hill. Said he: "I'm renowned for covering ground." But alas, now the ground covers Bill!

—Wilbur N. Savage.

An elderly farmer drove into town one day and hitched his team to a telephone pole.

Burly Policeman—Here, you can't hitch there!

Elderly Farmer—Can't, eh? Well, why have you got a sign up, "Fine For Hitching"?

Junior—Mother! Mother! A big truck just ran over Daddy and squashed him all over the street!

Mother—Junior, how many times have I told you not to talk about such things when I am eating?

A pedestrian is a man who can't get gas and tires for his auto.

Miss Rouge—I'm sorry to hear of your automobile accident.

Motorist Friend—Oh, thanks; its nothing. I expect to live through many more.

Miss Rouge—Oh, I hope not.

It takes several hundred nuts to make a car, and only one nut to put it out of commission.

The old gentleman was very ill and the minister had been called to administer religious solace:

Minister—Are you afraid to meet the king of terrors?

Old Man—Not me. I am not afraid to meet him because I have been living with the queen of terrors for 35 years.

"Drive down and see us," our good friend wrote. "You come up and see us," we wrote back, "our tires are thin, too."

Mother—I don't want you to marry. I've seen the folly of it.

Daughter—But, Mother, I want to see the folly of it, too.

Recently a woman consulted a lawyer relative to a divorce.

After talking to her, he thought matters might be simplified by talking to the husband. He called him in and told him of the impending action:

Husband (demanding)—But what grounds does she have for a divorce?

Lawyer—Oh, I don't think she'd have any trouble proving infidelity.

Husband (bristling right up)—Huh! That ain't so. She can't get a divorce on that ground. She knows I believe in God.

The lawyer got her the divorce just the same.

Keep On

One step won't take you very far, you've got to keep on walking.

One word won't tell folks who you are, you've got to keep on talking.

One little ad won't do it all, you've got to keep them going.

A constant gnawing. Towser masticates the toughest bone; The constant cooing lover carries off the blushing maid; And the constant advertiser is the one who gets the trade.

Wife—William, how do you suppose those dozens and dozens of empty bottles got into our cellar?

Husband—I'm sure I don't know. I never bought an empty bottle in my life.

Instead of passing out cigars when his son was born, Herbert Reno gave War Savings Stamps to friends at Pueblo, Colorado.

Lady (more or less)—Doesn't that little boy swear terribly?

Another Little Boy—Yes'm, he sure do. I don't put no expression into it at all.

Do the best you can with what you've got where you are.

Amter Decides To Stay in Race

Campaign Manager Tries to End Talk Nominee Will Drop Out

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Israel Amter, Communist nominee for governor, will remain in the race. After a conference last night of party leaders, Campaign Manager Simon W. Gerson put a stop to rumors that Amter might withdraw in favor of Dean Alfange, American Labor Party candidate, by announcing that Amter would stay in the race.

Gerson also announced that Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, party candidate for representative-at-large, was still in the running, but that four other nominees for state offices had withdrawn. He said the committee on vacancies, which under election law must act on replacements by midnight Tuesday, would meet during the week-end.

He said those who withdrew and the posts they sought were: Frank Herron of Buffalo, lieutenant governor; Benjamin J. Davis, Jr. of New York, attorney general; Fred Briehl, Ulster county dairy farmer, comptroller; and Robert Minor of Croton, representative-at-large.

Withdrawing had to be filed before midnight last night. Gerson refused to explain why the four candidates had withdrawn, and said merely that only the vacancies committee could decide on substitutions.

Cheese Is an Aid In Meat Shortage

Ithaca, N. Y. — Present meat shortages in the country are bringing cheese to the fore as a source of protein. Aside from the supply of cheese for the armed forces and for lend-lease shipment, there is enough for general home use, says the New York State College of Home Economics.

The college here gives some tips on the value of cheese to the normal diet.

American cheddar cheese, which totals about four-fifths of the cheese production in this country and is the kind sent under lend-lease, is a good source of protein for body building. The chief function of protein is to repair worn-out tissues. When the cheese is made from whole milk it also contains enough fat to make it a good fuel food.

Cheese rates high as a source of calcium which gives shape and permanence to the body framework. It also contains riboflavin, which is one of the vitamins necessary for good health and normal metabolism.

Cheese made from whole milk is a rich source of vitamin A and contains most of the food value of milk. One third of a pound of cheese is equal to one quart of fluid milk.

When cheese becomes too hard to cut easily grate it and use it to flavor other foods. To keep cheese in good condition wrap it well and put it in a cool place.

Pine Bush Lak. Estates to William and Margaret Gordon, West New York, N. J., parcels in the town of Shawangunk.

Mount Vernon Scarlets Oppose Recreations Here Tonight

Men Are Going Haywire in Dress

Gaudy Apparel Demanded Once More as in '17

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—Men's leanings toward flashy attire in troubled times—such as the gaudy silk shirt craze of the World War era—are breaking out again in a rising demand for more colorful suspenders, robes, belt, mufflers and sports wear.

This was shown today in a survey among retailers of men's apparel by manufacturers and distributors in the merchandise mart which will conduct its first male apparel market for three days starting September 14.

Aside from distribution problems one of the industry's major difficulties is supplying demand for brightly colored items because of dye shortages due to the war. In the shirt field pastel shades and whites will dominate for the duration.

Dye shortages are not so apparent in other furnishings. Wider than usual, many of the new suspenders carry rainbow hues. Sports coats for the 1943 spring and summer months lead the retreat from conservative tailoring. In one line, the body of the coat is of white and brown plaid, with sleeves of plain contrasting color.

Holy Cross Looks Like One of Best Gridiron Machines

Plenty of Good Material at Disposal of Ank Scanlon, New Boss of Crusaders

(This is another of a series on the prospects of major college football teams.)

By BILL KING

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 5 (AP)—The lack of a major coaching background has not prevented from acquiring many positive ideas that appear startling to many of his impressive squad.

But if all of his players can master radical changes as smoothly as the great Johnny Grigas did while shifting from fullback to tailback, Scanlon's first venture in big time football will be a sensational success.

While toiling in comparative secrecy at St. Joseph's, his alma mater in Philadelphia, Scanlon became a rabid admirer of the single wingback style, which explains the conversion of the line-smashing Grigas. Nowadays that great ball-carrier, who excelled while operating from the T-formation, has assumed the added duties of safety man. And he has been doing a creditable job of returning punts and intercepting enemy passes in practice.

While Grigas was changing over, all of the other Crusaders were being called upon to adopt new individual techniques. Holy Cross' success appears to depend entirely upon the rapidity with which they master unfamiliar assignments.

Men Are Three-Deep

Except for a rather skimpy end squad, which has been padded by the addition of Chet Wasilewski, a 200-pounder who spelled Grigas at fullback last year, the Crusaders are three-deep with seasoned talent everywhere. Freshmen are eligible this year but Scanlon does not expect any help from any of his youngsters until November.

"There is a vast difference between players who have had a year of varsity experience and those fresh from high schools," Scanlon said. "After studying my freshmen, I've come to the conclusion that colleges that abandoned the rule will not be benefited greatly. I doubt if many freshmen will see much action on college gridirons this year."

Captain Ed Murphy and Bill Swacki assure the Crusaders competent starting wingmen and the huge Johnny Figangi and Jim Landrigan are as rugged as any pair of tackles in the east. The veterans Tom Alberghini and Mel Downey dominate a squad of powerful guards and Chet Yablonski and George Titus are evenly matched centers with much major game experience.

Grigas happens to be only one of a dozen fleet and shifty backfield performers studying Scanlon's new tricks. He now is operating in a quartet that includes Eddie Galuska, Bob Sullivan and Steve Murphy but Scanlon plans to alternate them with a dependable unit that includes Johnny Bezemes, Ray Ball, Dick Gibson and Andy Notowich.

Tough Games Booked

Holy Cross always gives its coaches exacting schedules and no exception has been made in Scanlon's case, despite his supposed unfamiliarity with its opponents. The fact is that Ank has been called upon to shoulder one of the most difficult football tasks in the Crusaders' long history. They will open the season here against Dartmouth on September 26 and then take on nine other powerful rivals.

The remainder of the schedule: October 3, Duquesne; 10, Fort Totten; 17, Syracuse; 24, North Carolina State; 31, Colgate; November 7, Brown at Providence; R. I.; 14, Temple; 21, Manhattan; 28, Boston College at Boston.

50 Gridders Greet Coach Bill Elder At Initial Drill

Newburgh Mentor Waxes Optimistic; Five Lettermen Back; Another Call

Gridiron work got under way on another battlefield this week when more than 50 football hopefuls were put through their preliminary paces by Coach Bill Elder of the Newburgh Free Academy.

Following the initial practice, Elder waxed optimistic. Coach Elder is faced with about the same problem as was Ted Conwice, the new Kingston High School mentor. Only five lettermen returned for work this year at Newburgh and what results the team shows this year, will be moulded from boys who started from scratch.

It was announced that another call will be issued to enlarge the squad next week. Elder expects at least 100. Many of the new enrollees to the school and those who failed to sign up for football in June should swell Elder's rank.

Newburgh will open its season on October 3 against Ossining and will try to do a little better than in 1941 when the game ended in a 6-6 deadlock. Kingston goes to Newburgh this year for the traditional "Turkey Day" clash scheduled for Thursday, November 26.

Dodgers Face Showdown Today in Tangle With The Galloping Giants

Cardinals Jumped to Within Four Games of Leaders; Results in American

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Boostered by the return of Pete Reiser and the bankroll of Larry MacPhail, the Brooklyn Dodgers faced a showdown in the National League pennant race today as they moved into New York's Polo Grounds to tangle with the galloping Giants, who have waited eight years for this opportunity.

It was in 1934 that the Dodgers jumped up from the second division and tripped the Giants on the threshold of the National League championship, forcing Bill Terry to eat his widely publicized query concerning the whereabouts of the Brooklyn club.

With the shoe on the other foot, Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooks has been careful not to include among his many utterances a statement which he also might have to deliver, but the Giants haven't forgotten the humiliation they suffered in 1934.

Nor did they appreciate the Brooklyn hospitality on their last visit to Ebbets Field, when the Dodgers took four in a row.

In spite of that quadruple setback, the Giants are winding up their best season since 1937, when they won their last pennant. All of which makes the three-game series opening today the toughest test for the Dodgers between here and the end of the line.

Once over this hump, the Dodgers have only two more games with the threatening St. Louis Cardinals, one with the Giants and 11 with the Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phils, all but three of them on their home grounds.

When they take the field today the Dodgers will welcome Reiser back to the fold after an injury layoff and the Brooklyn fans will welcome Pitcher Bob Newsom, purchased by President MacPhail on the road trip just ended to help the club "insure" the pennant.

Taking advantage of Brooklyn's idleness yesterday, the Cardinals jumped to within four games of the lead by downing the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3, in a night contest, one of two which comprised the entire National League program.

John Beasley chalked up his 18th pitching victory of the year, although he wavered in the seventh, walking in Cincinnati's final run, and had to be rescued by Howard Krist.

The Cardinals scored four runs off Paul Derringer in the first three frames, one of them a homer by George Kuroski, and coasted through.

The Chicago Cubs collected ten hits off three Pittsburgh pitchers and whipped the Pirates, 5-3, behind the seven-hit hurling of Hiram Bithorn.

Bithorn handcuffed the Bucs until the ninth, when a single, a walk and doubles by Vince DiMaggio and Maurice Van Robays produced three runs. Dom Dilessandro started the Cubs on their way with a two-run triple in the initial inning.

In the American League was confined to two teams, the St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians, who started a double-header with an afternoon game and finished it under the lights.

The Browns took home games, boosting their third place margin over the Tribe to two games and a half.

They won the opener, 6-3, although they were out-hit, but Johnny Niggeling pitched four-hit ball to hang up the nightcap, 4-0. Rookie Vern Stephens smashed a home run in each game, with a man on base each time.

The double bill, first of three in as many days for the two clubs, was in the nature of an experiment, with patrons being issued passout checks between games. Only 2,126 customers showed up for the daylight tilt, but 6,011 were on hand in the evening.

The only other game scheduled in the American League, a night affair between the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators, was postponed until today because of weather.

M.B.A. Champions Have Young and Spirited Players

Season's Final Is Due Next Saturday Night; Tulacz Is Nominated to Pitch Tonight

The Mount Vernon Scarlets, 1940 champions of the Metropolitan Baseball Association, will be a late season attraction at the municipal stadium tonight when they tangle with the Kingston Recreations. Game time is scheduled for 9:15 o'clock.

This will be one of the very few remaining games for the local semi-pro tossers and it figures to be one of the stiffest assignments of the year. In fact, it was announced last night that the Recs may conclude their 1942 activities next Saturday night.

Baseball fans of the city have been without a game since last Saturday's appearance of the Westbury Brasscos. The game with the Puerto Ricans was forced out of the books. Local spectators will be eager to get back into the up-town ball orchard tonight to see the Recreations in action once again.

Tulacz Will Hurl

It will be Whitey Tulacz on the hill for Kingston tonight going after his 11th win of the campaign. In his last effort Tulacz defeated the Brasscos by 10 to 2 last Saturday night. The veteran Pole will have his work cut out for him tonight, however.

The invading Mount Vernon Scarlets have one of the best teams in the M. B. A. this year and at this writing, have a good chance to come close to the crown. They won it in 1940. In all probability, either Jim Sassetta or Ralph Zeitz will hurl for the Scarlets.

The Westchester club of course, will have Jimmy Girvan, ex-Rec third baseman, playing shortstop tonight, and Buster Lavac, who hurled one game for Kingston, in the outfield. Both are eager to show that the locals made a mistake in letting them go.

Besides these two players the Scarlets have a number of others who are the class of the M. B. A. At first base the club has Bob Hawthorne, 19-year-old star who is making his first year with Mount Vernon. He is noted for his fancy fielding. Second base is held by Gene Aquilino, another local youth, playing in his second year. Aquilino has a .333 batting average for the year.

The rest of the inner defense finds Mike Manganiello at third. He is a former N. Y. U. "hot corner" player, who held down the lead-off position for three years with the Violets. Shortstop is directed by Jimmy Girvan.

Lavac in Outfield

In the outfield there's Buddy Arliss in left, who formerly attended Illinois Wesleyan. A number of big league clubs have been looking at Arliss and it is safe to add that he looks like big league timber. Buddy has one of the finest fielding averages in the M. B. A. George Torpe, in center, has been with the Scarlets since mid-season. He has a batting clip of .429. Buster Lavac plays in right.

Two outstanding catches divide the work for Mount Vernon. Mike Stark, a veteran of the Westchester county, is making his first start with the club this year. Harry Laboda, the other receiver, does most of the work. He has been with the Scarlets since their original organization.

Cassetta, one of the two hurlers who might get the starting assignment, is 20 years old. He has played with the Butler, Pa., club of the Penn State League. He's a southpaw. Zeitz, a right-hander, attended Illinois Wesleyan. Zeitz is rated as one of the best hurlers in the M. B. A. this year.

Kingston will start out with Ralph Coleman, Al Cuccinello, Roy Tarr and Buddy Van Herpe in the infield. Sam Williams, Ernie Downer and Bill Thomas will patrol the outfield. Whitey Kowalek again will do the catching.

mile on record. His time is surpassed only by the 4:04.4 of Glenn Cunningham, made on the out-sized Dartmouth board oval with a trio of pace-setters.

The shower almost kept Haegg from running but officials prevailed upon him to keep his promise of 24 hours earlier in which he said he would try for a new mark. That promise lured approximately 27,000 spectators to the stadium, despite the threatening weather.

Haegg galloped through the first 440 yards in 58 seconds and finished the half mile in 2:00 before the soft going and the high humidity slowed him down. A fantastic finish, however, carried him over the final 110 yards in 16 seconds.

It was the seventh time in two months that Haegg had bettered a world mark and the second time he had shaved the record in the one-mile run. On July 2 he lowered Sydney Wooderson's listed 4:06.4 to 4:06.2. His other achievements were at 1,500, 2,000 and 3,000 meters and at two miles. He has broken the 2,000 meter mark twice.

Gunder Haegg Runs Record Mile in 4:04.6

Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 5 (AP)—A sudden shower just before

Gunder Haegg took the track may have robbed the Swedish runner of the first four-minute mile.

As it was, the slender fireman (CQ), whirled over the soggy Stockholm cinders last night in 4:04.6 for the fastest competitive

Not So Confident

The Giants may not be so confident of beating the All-Stars as they have been in the past, but this could be a boon to them, making them fight all the harder.

The Army All-Stars are confident, but Colonel Neyland does not share their confidence, which is strictly in the coaching tradition. No coach of an all-star team, even such an all-star team as this army army, can afford the luxury of confidence when going up against the Giants.

Although Colonel Neyland has announced no starting team, it is likely that the army will have Calvelli or Greenfield at center; Baisi and Sherrod, Fife or Gussie at guard; Mellus and Barnes at tackle; Russell and Kelley at end; Barthmole or Spadacini, Cagno or Pingel; Standlee, Fryer or Coffman and Wilson in the backfield.

Army All Stars to Play Grid Giants Next Week

Polo Grounds game the proceeds will be split by the Tribune Fresh Air Fund and Army Emergency Relief.

The performances of all-star teams to date suggest that all-star teams have two downs against them in challenging any established and sound organization like the Giants. The Chicago Bears beat an all-star team, 21 to 0, last week, the Philadelphia Eagles beat the same all-star combination, more or less, by 16 to 8, and the Western Army All-Stars, coached by Major Wallace Wade, opened their five-game series by losing to the Washington Redskins, 26 to 7.

Beard Trust Fund Destruction Is Ordered

New City, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Four trust funds which make up the residuary estate of the late Daniel Carter Beard, commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America, have been ordered destroyed immediately.
Under an order made yesterday by Rockland County Surrogate John A. McKenna, one trust fund goes to Daniel B. Beard, a son of Omaha, Neb.; one to Mrs. Barbara Beard Price, of Suffern, N. Y., and one each to two grandsons, Daniel C. Beard II and Albert Beard, both of Omaha.
The scout leader, who died July 11, 1941, provided in his will that the trust be distributed when Daniel C. II reached 31. His estate was valued at "more than $10,000," but the total value has not been disclosed.
The petition for immediate distribution was submitted by Beard's son, Daniel, and the executors and trustees of the estate.

Airmen Reach Base

Melbourne, Sept. 5 (AP)—A party of American and Australian airmen who made a crash landing in a swamp near Buna on August 7 finally has returned safely to base after a 150-mile trek through the New Guinea jungles. The fliers brought with them a section of a parachute on which they kept a day-to-day diary of their long journey, during which they shot a wild pig and two game cocks to supplement their meager emergency rations.

New Minesweeper Will Go Down Ways at Hildebrandt Yard in Labor Day Launching

The C. Hildebrandt Dry Dock Co. of Connelly will be one of the many shipyards throughout the nation which will have a part Monday in a Labor Day program which the Navy has termed "Another Naval Victory—Victory Won by the Workers of America" when a minesweeper will be launched.

This will be the 15th minesweeper that has been built at this yard and launched.
According to the Associated Press more than 150 tough fighting ships and many other types of vessels will be launched or have their keels laid Monday.

The Navy, in announcing what probably will be a record day of ship-building activity, did not specify how many of the total would be launched, but in at least 75 shipyards in 27 states, champagne will be splashed, again proving the new ships or keels will be laid. In some yards there will be no special ceremonies. The men who build the sea warriors aren't going to miss a minute of work.

The new vessels will include destroyers, submarine chasers, motor torpedo boats, mine sweepers, coastal transports, tank landing craft, seaplane tenders, rescue vessels and others.
In the third naval district, comprising New York, Connecticut and the upper half of New Jersey, there will be 18 launchings and keel layings. At Port Newark, N. J., keels for four landing barges, for infantry, will be put on ways, and at the New York Navy Yard, four others, for tanks, will be readied.

At New England shipyards, 11 naval vessels will slide down ways, and keels for 18 others set up.

urgently needed warehouse space as a result of the freeze order.

W.P.B. said there still would be an ample stock pile on hand. Production of refrigerators was discontinued April 30 until after the war.

The Office of Price Administration announced today that manufacturers' and distributors' maximum prices for the sale of refrigerators released by the W.P.B. would be established within a few days.

Prison Terms for Concentration Escapees

Vichy, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Laval government decreed prison terms today for persons escaping from concentration camps or disappearing from their obligatory residences.

Jail terms of six days to six months also were provided for guards or officials accused of harboring or aiding escapees, even though no complicity is proved.

(The edict apparently was aimed at persons escaping France to England or neutral countries or leaving their homes to join the underground movement.)

Another ordinance published in the official journal provided that the "union of Israelites of France" is given notice to procure a contribution to its operating expense 6,000,000 francs a month beginning in September. The edict provided that in cases of default of the "voluntary payments," the union was to proceed with "arbitrary individual taxation" to make up the sum.

Ruggles Won't Forget Winston's Big Cigar

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP)—One thing John Howard Ruggles of the RAF Ferry Command won't forget in a hurry is Winston Churchill's cigar.

He spent some hours in a smoky airplane cabin with Churchill. In fact, he was co-pilot of the plane that took the British prime minister to Moscow recently for his talks with Joseph Stalin.

"I'll never forget that cigar," the 28-year-old San Franciscan told interviewers yesterday, wrinkling his brow. "We had to open the bomb bay doors."

complying with numerous requests for autographs.
He was about to leave to continue his trip when Mr. Elsworth told him that Miss Belle F. Costello of the county treasurer's office had been waiting in the lobby of the court house for an opportunity to see him. Mr. Dewey at once went in and greeted Miss Costello, who is now serving her 38th year as a member of the staff of the county treasurer's office, and is probably the oldest employee in point of service in a county office. Before he left the Freeman photographer took a picture of Mr. Dewey, with Miss Costello and Mr. Elsworth.

To say that Miss Costello was pleased at the attention that had been shown her is putting it mildly. "I never expected to have such an honor," she said afterward.
On their way up to Fleischmanns, where the party was met by James Foreman, Delaware county Republican leader and escorted through Delaware county, the stops were made at Woodstock, Phenicia and Pine Hill.

This afternoon Mr. Dewey was scheduled to speak at the Cortland county fair and on Monday will make an address at the fair at Chatham.

Second Day of Swing

Cortland, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey rode into this central New York community today to start the second day of an upstate campaign swing devoid of political speech-making.

The Republican candidate for governor conferred with party leaders of Cortland and nearby counties before presenting awards at a 4-H Club exhibit here.

This afternoon he returns to his Pawling farm home for the weekend. Labor Day he will speak at the Columbia County Fair in Chatham.

Dewey's appearance in Cortland followed a day of hand-shaking visits to villages in the Catskills, culminating in an overnight stay at Oneonta.

On his rural tour, the former Manhattan prosecutor posed for pictures and signed autographs, but consistently declined to make a speech.

"We'll save the speeches for next month," he told a group of vacationers at Pine Hill, Ulster county.

The 13-county motor trip, which started at Poughkeepsie, included stops at Highland, Port Jervis, Kingston, Woodstock, Phenicia, Fleischmanns, Margaretville, Roxbury, Stamford, Hobart and Delhi.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 5 (AP)—Catholic leaders of Michigan's northern peninsula announced plans today to assemble thousands of worshippers on the high school athletic field Monday night to pray for a just peace and protection to America's soldiers.

HIGHLAND

Preparing Bundles
Highland, Sept. 5—The War Relief committee is storing up another big bundle for Mr. Bloomer to take to Kingston next week. A surprising feature will be a large quantity of tinfoil. The Tuesday and Friday salvage sewing this week in is charge of Mrs. Fred Schneider and Mrs. John Graham. As last week, the attendance of workers is recorded. Mrs. James Callahan, the chairman, adds in her report, "Tell the community that we are always begging. We will use up scraps of all kinds as well as mend garments."

As schools open outgrown garments will be found in children's wardrobes. There is a special plea from Britain for children's clothing and for baby clothes. As soon as shipping space is found, The Rev. W. H. Elliott, whose articles and letters continue to cheer the English through the pages of the "Sunday Graphic" closes a recent article as follows: "God keep you then young people. You are a grand lot. You have had to begin your lives by giving, when you might well have asked a few thrilling years of taking, but you shall not regret that if you have lived to learn. The future belongs to you. You have earned it and paid for it, make it a good time for the poor for the week, for the lonely, for the anxious, for the weary, and therefore a good time for you, I know you will."

U-Boat Sinkings

Mean Resources of Allies Have Value

ance, because it takes a mighty fleet of fighting ships to act as convoys and patrols and hunt down U-boats.

American task at sea has been eased. Our warships have been escorting cargo ships in coastal waters and in the Caribbean. Yankee, Canadian and British airplane patrols have been working together, and a huge fleet of small craft, including innumerable one-time pleasure boats, are scouting.

On the force of it, Hitler's sea pack seems to have taken a nasty knock. However, Secretary of the Navy Knox has had a word of caution for those who jumped to the conclusion that all was well. Said he:

"This thing is not by any means solved. It is a long and we may never lick it completely, but I believe we can reduce it substantially so that it will not interfere with victory in the war."

First Lord Alexander says that new methods of handling the submarine menace have been developed, and that the under-water boats have turned the offensive back to their more usual haunts. Alexander didn't say what new methods he had in mind.

However, we lately have seen the birth of a most devastating anti-submarine weapon—the heavy bombing of U-boat shipyards in Germany.

Anglo-American bombers operating out of Britain. Hitler has been turning out submarines in mass production, so they say, but between destruction of his U-boats at the source, and destruction of those already at sea, the Allied position in the battle of the Atlantic certainly is looking up at last.

Leaflet Raid Is Made

London, Sept. 5 (AP)—The German air force made a leaflet raid last night on the south coast, dropping a four-page pictorial folder on the Dieppe raid tending to show the prowess of German troops and reiterating that the attack was intended as a second front thrust.

tank "balled out" after their General Grant had been hit by five shells, then returned and drove it off the field.

Axis Vehicles Strafed
Meanwhile, Allied planes strafed Axis vehicles rolling east toward the battle scene and smashed at Axis shipping off Tobruk, setting on fire and probably sinking three vessels including a destroyer.

On the Russian front, the Soviet high command reported in its midday bulletin that the Red Armies had stiffened after three successive days of withdrawals, halting the all-out Nazi assault on Stalingrad.

Dispatches to Red Star said Marshal Fedor Von Bock was now "assembling his last forces" in an effort to break through to the Volga.

"Northwest of Stalingrad, Red Army men broke into enemy positions and left 270 enemy dead on the battlefield," the Russian command said.

"Southwest of Stalingrad, fierce fighting continues. Red Army men repulsed incessant enemy tank and infantry attacks. . . . The Hitlerites suffered heavy losses."

Thus, for the first time in 72 hours, the Red Armies were declared to be standing fast on both sides of the imperiled metropolis at a time when the German offensive had reached its peak.

The Nazi high command itself claimed no major gains and acknowledged that the Russians were striking back fiercely.

"North of the city, the enemy carried out large-scale attacks by infantry and tank formations, aiming at relieving the Stalingrad front, but these attacks ended with the loss of 40 Soviet tanks," German headquarters said.

"German infantry divisions successfully stormed several modern fortifications, which the enemy had stubbornly defended. Enemy counterattacks were repulsed."

Town Is Captured

In the Caucasus, the Germans asserted they had captured the town of Tamaskaya on the Taman peninsula, directly east of the Crimean Kerch peninsula, thereby widening the invasion salient on the Caucasian coast.

The Nazi command said German and Rumanian troops were also steadily advancing on the Soviet Black Sea naval base at Novorossisk, already abandoned by the Russian fleet.

In the western air war, British and Russian warplanes virtually spread-eagled Europe, attacking the big port of Bremen for the 99th time, bombing the Hungarian capital of Budapest for the first time, and raiding a host of other targets in Nazi-occupied Poland, Austria, East Prussia and German Silesia.

Roundabout reports from Berlin said the raiders struck at Vienna, Austria; Koensburg, East Prussia, and Breslau in Silesia.

A Vichy broadcast said a number of civilians were killed in a raid on Budapest, which was apparently carried out by far-ranging Soviet fliers.

The British air ministry reported that a strong force of R. A. F. bombers—perhaps 200 to 300—dropped a heavy weight of bombs and left great fires raging in Bremen in the fourth straight night of assault on Hitler's war nerve-centers.

Eleven R. A. F. bombers failed to return, the air ministry said. London, long raid-free, had an alarm today and anti-aircraft guns thundered, but the all-clear signal came a short time later.

The attack on Budapest, more than 2,000 miles roundtrip from the nearest Soviet bases, kept the Hungarian city of 1,500,000 under alarm for an hour and 50 minutes.

No Session of Court

With City Judge Matthew V. Cahill called to Albany on an urgent legal matter there was no session of court today at the city hall as Special City Judge Daniel Hoffman, who presides in the absence of the city judge, was not present. With no judges present all of the cases that had been set down for a hearing today were adjourned to Tuesday morning.

fighting, possibly partly because of an R. A. F. rule that, while the exploits of Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders, and South Africans may be mentioned, freely no British pilot or crewman should be mentioned by name unless he has been decorated for bravery.

A similar rule exists in the navy. In the army, anyone may be mentioned in the press but it has been the policy to give more details on the exploits of colonial troops although the British are in the majority, particularly in the Middle East, and India, and also were predominant in Malaya and Singapore.

Any Allied force invading the continent, should number at least 900,000 combat troops, in the opinion of military men, and that is why the American army must be called upon for a major role.

That the United Nations' command fully recognizes the situation is shown by the large numbers of American troops which are being poured into the British Isles every month in an ever-increasing tide.

The United States Army Air Force also is preparing to shoulder a big burden.</
